

hosted by

Ross Elementary School

PEP, a local nonprofit established in 1982, teaches parenting classes to over 4,000 parents and caregivers a year.

"PEP classes were recommended to me years ago by a therapist as a good option for D.C.-area parents, and they've just begun making their offerings available online."

*Carolyn Hax,
Washington Post*

Parenting Talk

Understanding Friendship and Bullying

Wednesday, February 6th at 6 pm

Some children have trouble making and keeping friends, and some worry every day about being ridiculed, pushed around or excluded. How do you tell the difference between bullying and behavior that's just immature? In either case, what do you do about it? This workshop will give parents tools for supporting children in meeting social challenges with confidence.

For more than 30 years, PEP has offered positive parenting education and support to parents throughout Montgomery County, Northern Virginia and Washington, DC. Like all PEP programs, this talk will give you insights into ways to use positive, encouraging methods with children that gain cooperation, teach respect and responsibility, and bring out the best in you and your child.

301.929.8824

PEPparent.org